

Title IID Grants
Digital Destinations In History
Voices in History
Google Tools
Office of Educational Technology
8201 Rockaway Blvd, Ozone Park NY 11416
February 25-26, 2010
Agenda

Course Readings:

"Web Literacy for Educators by Alan November

"Google Maps Hack - Tips & Tools for Geographic Searching and Remixing" by Rich Gibson & Schuyler Erle

Session 1: (8:30-8:45) – Adding your Gmail to the wikispace (<http://ddih.wikispaces.com> <http://voicesinhistory.wikispaces.com>)

Session 2: (8:45-9:00) - Sample Google Map- Erie Canal Map

Session 3: (9:00-9:15) Using SS scope and sequence to create a Google Map Lesson

- (9:15-9:30)- Brainstorm a topic for your Google Map

Session 4: (9:30-10:30)- Using <http://NYLearns.org> to find resources for your Google Map

- What is <http://NYLearns.org>
- Standards Alignment
- Lesson Plans, other resources, advanced search, Karpeles' Library
- Google Map Planning Sheet
- Copy and Paste URL, resources onto the google Map Planning Sheet

Session 5: (10:30-11:00) - Google Search / Advanced Search

Session 6: (11:00-12:00) Google Maps Creating a customized map: adding locations, place marks, lines, shapes, videos, hyperlinks etc.

Lunch 12:00-1:00

Session 7: (1:00—2:15) Independent Activity – Creating your map

Build your own Google Map and use the resources you have found during the previous sessions. Include a photo, video, hyperlink, placemark and line or shape.

Create a map with 3 placemarks that are pertinent to your history curriculum, Include a resource from www.nylearns.org and from www.google.com (you can add resources from other sites too)

Session 8: (2:15-2:30) Share out

Prep for Podcasting Course

- Determine what Historical Topic you will be teaching between now and our next session
- Have your students create a historical creative writing piece about the event or time period.
- They can choose to write a 1st person or 3rd person narrative
- 1st person narrative can consist of taking on the role of someone during that time period (like a memoir or journal entry)
- 3rd person narrative might be about reporting on a historical event.
- Choose one outstanding writing piece to be used for our next session

FILE NAMING CONVENTION:

Please save your files using the following file naming convention:

DBN_Last Name_Date

Thanks for participating! Please visit our website: www.oitqueens.com